JULY MEETING

WED. JUL 29th SHERATON, Valley Forge
by Bill O'Connell

The July meeting is at the Sheraton in Valley Forge and will be the ever popular round table meeting. This is where the experts on various models of Porsches sit at different tables and discuss the car. Load up on your questions and be prepared for a very informative meeting. It is your chance to learn all the ins and outs of your favorite Porsche, be it one you own or one you just want to know more about.

The meeting at NTW went very well, and now many of you know all about tires. My sincere thanks to Marty of the Willow Grove store for setting up a super meeting. We had reps from Bridgestone, Goodrich, Pirelli, and Dunlop, who came loaded with information on their latest and greatest. Stu Boreen walked off with the Comp T/A tires supplied by NTW and Goodrich and hundreds of you wore your snazzy new hats home.

DIRECTIONS: From the Pa Turnpike, take the KING OF PRUSSIA/VALLEY FORGE exit. After paying the toll, take the FIRST exit which is RT 363. Follow 363 toward Valley Forge Park and the hotel will be on your right.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

by AL ANDERSON

I can hardly believe we are at mid-point of our club season, and it has been a great year so far. I want to thank each and every one on the executive committee, and all the other club members that have contributed their time and effort toward making every thing run smoothly. The spirit of every one at our charity car wash to benefit Childrens Hospital, really reflected the kind of year we are having. I am really looking forward to our 30th anniversary, I know it will be the highlight of the year. Once again, thanks everyone.

SHERATON AUTOCROSS II

THE ADVENTURE

Our June 21 summer kick-off autocross was a mix of competition to remember and tribulation to forget. The number of participants was down partially due to the threatening weather and Father's Day obligations but I expect the crowds to return (HINT HINT) for the remaining two events. We're going to try liming the course to reduce off-course excursions and will also try to provide times for the off-course runs although they still won't count.

Mark Schnoerr showed us how with the Fastest Time of Day (F.T.D.) of 48.265 in his true stock 914. In A Stock, Dave Donohue blew out the competition with a 51.744 in his Turbo-look 911 while the Autocross Chairman tried to figure out why he should be in some other class. Also in A Stock, Ron Lego used the light showers during his final run to finesse (SP) his tail-end around and managed to edge out yours truly by 0.015 seconds with a 52.315.

B Stock was equally exciting with several drivers within a few tenths. Russ Hunsberger takes 1987 win number two with a 52.332 followed closely by Art Rothe with a 52.567. Both Mike Weaver and Richard van Zijl turned in very respectable runs with 52.732 and 52.965, respectively.

C Stock is where I placed most of the cars with the odd engine location and cooling systems (although, I would like some track time at the wheel of a 944 Turbo). Al Kellogg edged out Michael Murphy with a 55.885 because Mike clip a cone on both his second and third runs incurring a 2 second penalty both times. Jerry Weger found the course on his final run to take third place.

D Stock went to Mark with F.T.D. (next event I put him in his own class call expert stock). Second went to Wayne Richardson with a good 54.975.

Don and Chris Galbraith surprised everyone by running on STREET TIRES. Don clocked a 50.460 while Chris took F.T.D. Ladies with a 53.119.

Janet Weger almost beat Jerry with a 59.584 to take Ladies Stock.

I expect to see new faces and old diehards at the next event August 9 with registration at 9 a.m. (hopefully, see my other article).

THE AUTO CROSS THAT ALMOST WASN'T

Everyone that showed-up for the autocross knows the story but I thought a few of our armchair members might find the adventures of running an autocross somewhat amusing.

Upon our arrival, the parking lot was covered with an assortment of vans, trucks, trailers, and antique cars left over from the previous day's auto show. The number of these obstacles was so great that we had to put pylons on top of the van so our club members could find registration.

One-by-one they slowly departed and portions of the surface became visible. We evaluated our alternatives (1) run a few practice sessions between the trailers, (2) report that several neat old cars were being stolen from the lot, and (3) eat more doughnuts since, after all, we had eight dozen kept in cold storage since our car wash the week before.

Finally, the lot was clear or at least clear enough. The course was set-up carefully to avoid the moving van that refused to move. We were just about ready and here comes hotel security. They have a problem with the number of parking spots that we're occupying. Fortunately, the security manager works out a deal that they provide us with barricades and we move the course further up the hill.

The dust finally settled and we got the event underway. We started off with several off-course runs. I don't believe it; here we go again; I need some aspirin or Roloids or something. Fortunately, most everyone found the course eventually (except poor John and Bill) and we ended up with a very competitive event. The results and an event wrap-up are included in this issue.

A FEW NOTES ON SAFETY

Rich Benn

Many of you are out there reading this fine publication month after month and wondering what is necessary to get into autocrossing or drivers education. Some more think they want to try these activities but are afraid what will happen to my car or I have to destroy my car in order to make it acceptable for these events.

Hopefully I will set aside some of your worries in this article. Suppose you just bought a new Porsche at the dealer for your everyday car, you think driving events would be fun but you are afraid. There are many drivers if not most of them on the track or autocross course who use their car 7 days a week for transportation. Personally I think they have an advantage over the other driver who has to get accustomed to driving characteristics of their Porsche each time they get behind it's wheel. Worrying about damaging your car is a valid thought but rational driving is the easiest remedy.

The first safety instruction to anyone who has bought a used Porsche and is interested in events would be to take the car to a Porsche dealer or recognized Porsche mechanic (check some of the ads in Der Gasser). A good idea might be to get a hold of an old technical inspection form and have the mechanic go over your car with this form as a dry run. He will be able to tell you the strong points and weak points of your car's safety. I don't have to tell you not to buy a rusty car expecting to bring it directly to a track event. That's not to say you can't buy one as a project car and have a little body work done. A strong body is most important because of all the stress put on the car as it goes around a track or autocross course. As you and the mechanic go over the car pay particular attention to the engine, fuel system, electrical system, exhaust system and especially tires.

If you bought the car personally the first step is to clean the engine compartment if it has been neglected. Now that you can see what's there take a look at the engine. Are there any loose items in the engine compartment that can rattle around and possibly damage your fan or worse? Check and make sure there are not any loose bolts that could become loose objects. Inspect all fuel lines make sure there aren't any cracks in rubber or the stainless steel is not fraying. Fuel lines are an inexpensive fix in comparison to an engine fire! Something that bothers me the most when I work on the grid tech line at driver ed events is a loose battery. In the worst possible situation (an accident) a loose battery only adds fuel to the fire to coin a phrase. Frayed wires are also something you can check for that could cause sparks in the wrong place. One of the things that you might be able to find but should be examined by a mechanic is the exhaust system. Heat exchangers have a nasty habit of rusting. Stainless steel exhaust systems will cure this problem. If the car you bought has it you are probably ok. Tires are the easiest item to inspect and also the most neglected according to tire reps who have spoken at monthly meetings.

I'm not trying to turn you into a mechanic, that is why I strongly suggest you have a mechanic go over your car before you attempt driving events. This is the reason for the technical inspection form I mentioned earlier. If you enter a driver education event this is sent to you with your driver packet the mechanic who inspects your car will sign off your car is it passes all the items on the check list.

Two items on the check list that you will have to buy before participating in an autocross or driver education event is a fire extinguisher and a helmet. The fire extinguisher has to be mounted "metal to metal" which means securely mounted within the drivers reach. You can buy many different kinds of fire extinguishers. The chemical variety is common, but make sure that the code on the fire extinguisher says "A B C". This designation means that it can handle any type of fire you might have in your car, including paper, gas, oil or electrical. Another kind of fire extinguisher which is HIGHLY recommended is a halon extinguisher.

Chemical extinguishers put out the fire but they leave a residue everywhere which is a mess to clean up. the halon extinguishers is a gas which smothers the fire without leaving any residue.

Another thing that you must have to participate is a snell 1980 or better approved helmet. If you have never been out on the track or autocross course and you would like to try it, I would see if someone I know has a helmet that fits my head and is of the approved variety. Maybe someone going to the event has one that you can borrow. This is something you should arrange before coming to the track. If you try an event and then get hooked, go out and buy yourself a GOOD HELMET! (not a K-MART blue light special). My personal suggestion would be to contact Bob Russo at Holberts. I'm sure Bob will be glad to steer you in the right direction and price range. It's not that we expect an accident but in case of one I feel more comfortable being prepared as safely as I can.

You don't have to go out and buy a professional driving suit. Jeans and a long sleeve shirt will satisfy your clothing needs until you move up to SCCA or IMSA. I would suggest you wear a T-shirt so you can take the long sleeve off when you are not driving because those summer days get hot. Some people even find a way to get long pants that will pull over shorts. But please don't use nylon! If you have ever seen nylon burn I don't think you will want that next to your skin in the event of a fire.

When you get to the event check in, sign the insurance waiver, and empty your car trunk and interior of all loose items. This includes maps, sunglasses, tire guages ect. You never know what will come out from its hiding place and get in the way of your feet or your eyes when you are trying to drive. Maps can fall down from sunvisors in the middle of a turn and tire guages can roll under your brake pedal at the end of a straight. I hope you now understand why emptying the interior is important. You should empty the luggage area or trunk because you don't want things moving around making noises and upsetting your concentration or the weight balance of the car. A note here to 911 and 914 drivers DO NOT REMOVE THE SPARE TIRE! this is part of the cars impact cushion and should remain. Do make sure the spare tire is bolted down securely. Next you should torque you lug nuts to 90lbs. If you don't have a torque wrench don't worry you can borrow one at the event. After all this is done get your tech form, helmet and drive to the tech line for grid tech where all the things on your tech form are checked. After you are finished there you have some time till the drivers meeting.

Attending the drivers meeting is not a time to get together with your friends and talk while the O.D. tries to speak over the conversations. You should listen to everything that is said carefully. It is told to you for yours and everyones safety! After the drivers meeting get your name on the flagging list for your flag station if you are at a drivers education event. I usually try to get a flag station at a turn that gives me trouble so I can watch other drivers's lines and learn a better or the correct line through the turn.

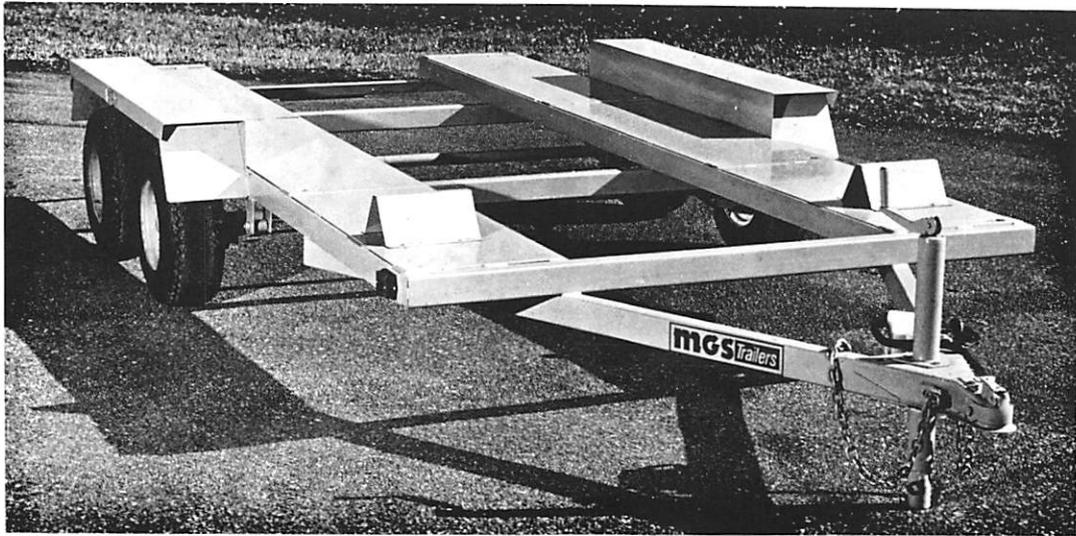

Since our next driver education event is July 25th at Summit Point I hope this article might bring out some new faces to the track. Driver education and autocrossing can be a lot of fun, you don't have to worry about being the slowest or the fastest car, everybody has to start somewhere and there is no insult being the slowest car. We are not out there to race on the track. Drivers education is to learn how to handle your car at it's limits so that in the event of a panic situation during day to day driving you will not panic but instead you will react with crisp smooth driver input that will allow you to safely drive out of the situation. Till I see you at the track or the next autocross September 13th at the Valley Forge Sheraton.

SOCIAL CALENDAR

The Car Wash was certainly a success, and due to the positive response, will be repeated next year. I want to take this opportunity to thank all of the club members who selflessly gave of their time in order to help a worthy cause. Also, there were some monetary donations by members who could not attend, and that was most appreciated. Finally, I would like to thank all of the sponsors whose material contributions helped reduce the club's cost of putting on the car wash. We raised $500, all of which will be donated to Cancer Research at Children's Hospital. The Contributors were as follows:

- Car Fare - Sponges and Soap (good car stuff! 247-6340)
- Carson Pettit - an excellent Location! (nice cars! 687-1500)
- Creative Environments Signs - The two Banner Signs (magnetic numbers! 539-9444)

Freda Corp - Hot Dogs
 Jack Greenberg, Inc -
 Hamburgers and Condiments
 Stroehmann's Bread - Rolls and Dounuts!

I think that all of the members who came out to work had a great time, the food was excellent, the weather was cooperative, and the water fight at the day's end was vintage fraternity stuff. If you didn't make it, next year's plans to be bigger and better. Don't forget the next big social event is the 30th, culminating Sunday with the annual picnic. I predict a break with the last 4 or 5 year's tradition; i.e. a hot, SUNNY day and a victory in softball for the four cylinders! Finally, the date for the Christmas Banquet is Saturday, December 19th. DON'T MISS IT!
 Larry and Cherly Herman

We hand wash and detail cars and don't miss a thing. We even clean the door jams. I use my wife's Q-Tips® to scour the air conditioning vents. When we're finished there shouldn't be a mark on the car. Most of my customers are in awe. The rest are ecstatic.
